

Harbor College Presents Annual Awards Assembly

Presentation of the individual scholarship-leadership award to James Tolich led off the Harbor College awards assembly held in Seahawk Center. College and civic authorities participate in the annual event. J. Reyburn Hatfield, dean of educational services, and Richard Mortimer, president of the Wilmington Rotary Club sponsoring the tribute, made the award to Tolich.

Divisional awards for scholarship included: Louise Corning, nursing; Peggy Tipton, business; Margaret Louise Raine, social science; Otto Olsen, police science; and Billy L. Redd, communications. Associated Student organization scholarships of $30 each were presented to Bob Myers, James Tolich, Duncan Burbridge, Frank Castiglione, Jack Womack, Gary Carr, Christine Beck, and Nora Jenzen.

THE PSYCHOLOGY CLUB won the club scholarship award, with the Earth Science Club placing second. The club achievement award for service to the college went to HARE sports car club for service to members of Gamma Epsilon Tau printing fraternity. Other awards included: Magdalene Howey, art department; Van Barbieri and Glen Banta, journalism; Joe Rojas, theater arts; Mrs. Verna Asbury, vocational nurse of the semester; Bob Myers, Susan Arvola and James Tolich, outstanding members of student council; and Emile Pomerleau, president's award. REPRESENTING THE Southern California Meter Assn., Wesley Towner and Bruno Bohnhardt presented two analyzing and measuring instruments to be used in the technical laboratory to George W. Rainey, applied technology division chairman. John Havland and Taylor Daigneault took first place and

North High Hosts Science Day May 1

North High School has announced plans to hold a science day on May 1, with participation by other schools in the district and business and industry firms. Invitations have been sent to local and national firms, as well as agencies of the U. S. Government and the armed forces, according to June Bullock, curriculum coordinator and science day advisor. North High held its last science day in 1959, and the event was attended by several thousand students and adults. More than 100 displays by students from the Torrance schools have been arranged for this year's science day, and numerous firms have indicated they will participate.

The event will give talented students and firms a chance to demonstrate some of the improvements and technical advances which have been made through research and development programs in private industry, education, and governmental agencies.

In addition to numerous displays and exhibits, students and parents also will see a number of lectures and films. Several panel discussions and student participation programs will be arranged during the day.

The science day activities were hosted by South High School last year, and by Torrance High School in earlier years. Plans call for the event to be hosted by one of the city's high schools every four years.

Goodgold Wins Award For Science

Stuart Goodgold, North High senior, has been named winner of the Bausch and Lomb Science Award at North High School.

Dr. R. D. Guengerich, principal, said the award will be presented to Goodgold during commencement exercises in June. The award is presented annually to the graduating senior with the highest achievement in science during his four years in high school.

Goodgold is now eligible to compete for the annual scholarships sponsored by Bausch and Lomb, Inc., of New York. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Goodgold of 2702 W. 177th St.

Goodgold joins South High School winner Robert Greene as a semi-finalist in the scholarship competition.

Survey Forms Requested by Cancer Group

Local residents who are participating in the American Cancer Society's six-year epidemiology study and who have not yet returned their follow-up questionnaires were asked today to get them in by Friday, Feb. 7.

The questionnaire cards should go to the volunteer researchers who delivered them, according to Mrs. Reed L. Pack, district epidemiology chairman of the American Cancer Society's Centinela Valley-South Bay District Office.

She urged anyone having a question about what to do with this card to query the local office of the American Cancer Society at 804 E. Manchester Blvd., Inglewood, telephone OR 2-8148.

Mrs. Pack said the fourth follow-up in the massive study is now in its final stages here, with approximately 65 per cent of the questionnaires already handed in.

The survey, which covers more than a million Americans, has involved 4,500 subjects in the Centinela Valley-South Bay area.

Began in 1959, the survey has already turned up a vast fund of information about the relationship between some human living habits (particularly cigarette smoking) and cancer and a number of other diseases.

Civil Defense Class Finished

Kenneth Harada, 4107 W. 185th St., recently received a graduation certificate from the Los Angeles Civil Defense and Disaster Corps for completion of an intensive 32-hour basic and light rescue training course.

The training course, conducted by the Los Angeles Department of Public Works, at the Mt. Lee Rescue Training Center, is designed to teach the basic procedures of emergency rescue to volunteer civil defense workers, government employees, and personnel of various local business and industrial firms.

Harada, who is employed by the Los Angeles City Bureau of Engineering, received instructions in fire and panic control, first aid, search and tagging of casualties, stretcher lashing, horizontal and vertical lowering, and knot tying. Graduation exercises included a realistic test, under simulated bombing conditions, of the knowledge gained from the course.
